CREATOR OF RECORDS:

Establishment and Initial Years

The N. Bugge Company was established in 1852 in Tønsberg, initially as a grocery store and ship chandler. Niels Bugge, born in Våle in Vestfold County in 1823, started the business in Nedre Langgt. 26, after serving as an apprentice with merchant Lars Johnsen Dahl for several years.

Gradually he extended operations to include coal trading, shipping activities and sales of cast-iron products from Ulefoss Jernverk ironworks and became a key shareholder in the coastal steamer between Tønsberg, Horten and Christiania (now Oslo). He later owned the best quayside in Tønsberg. Over time his business activities became increasingly related to the sea. Already by 1856 he managed a vessel that ferried people migrating to Quebec. In the years between 1870 and 1880, the company owned several vessels: Bai, Thor, Telegraf, Talisman, Victor, Tønsberg, Aurora, Fridtjof, Robert and Vega.

Niels Bugge (1823- 1896)

After a while, Niels Bugge became involved various forms of activities in the Arctic Ocean: sealing, whaling and the hunting of bottlenose dolphins from the White Sea to Eastern Greenland. During the period 1880 to 1890, his primary activity was sealing with the vessels Harald Haarfager and Hekla. Sealing with Hekla in the White Sea had to be abandoned after protests from the Russian authorities in 1889. In 1891–92, the same vessel was chartered to the Danish government for use in Eastern Greenland. This expedition produced a rich plethora of scientific results. Hekla was sold to Johannes Müller in Christiania in 1897.

Whaling in the Arctic Ocean

Niels Bugge's brother-in-law Thorvald Henrik Dahl (b.1833) was already a well-established shipowner who owned eight vessels when he started the whaling company Viktor in 1881. In 1883, Niels joined the firm. In 1889, Niels Bugge took over Viktor, which for seven years had carried out whaling in Syltefjord on the Varanger peninsula. In the same year, the whaling companies Viktor and Mjøfjord Hvalfangeri were merged. The new company was called AS Viktor. Niels Bugge was the company's general manager, and Lauritz Berg was its manager. At the same time, whaling operations were relocated from the coast of Finnmark to Dyrefjord in Island.

Family and the Shipping Company

Niels Bugge died in 1896. Together with Caroline Sophie Dahl Bugge (1828–1915), daughter of merchant Lars Dahl, he had six sons: Lars Dahl (Bugge) (1860–67), Halfdan Bugge (1862–1905), Carl Sophus Bugge (1864–1895), Niels Bugge (1866–67), Niels Bugge (1868–1900) and Finn Bugge (1871–1958). The son Niels Bugge managed the company until his death in 1900. Office manager Ditleff Levorsen was granted power of procuration (authorisation) to carry on business until Finn took over after he had completed his education in 1901. Ditleff Levorsen had been employed in the company since 1868.

Finn Bugge studied to be an electrical engineer at Chalmer's Technical College in Gothenburg in Sweden and at Hannover Technical College in Germany. He worked for a while in Germany in the company Elektrizität –Aktien Gesellschaft vorm W. Lahmeyer & Co in Frankfurt am Main before taking over management of AS Klosterøens Mekaniske og Elektriske Verksteder's divisional office in Christiania. He joined the family business in 1901. Several years later he took over control of the business.

In 1901, Finn Bugge married Mary Jane Jewell (born in London 18 October 1873). They had three children: 1) Maude Edle, b. 1902 and married to Director Rupert Trouton; 2) Niels Ronald, b. 1905, shipowner and consul in Tønsberg, married to Elsa Bergengren from Borås in Sweden; and 3) Finn Aubrey b. 1911, director, married to Grethe Olafsen, Tønsberg. For many years Finn Bugge owned the island of Hvaløy off the coast of Nøtterøy and the property Gimle at Nøtterøy.

Finn Bugge was a member of Tønsberg Town Council for several years and a board member of several whaling companies: AS Tanktransport, Kaldnes mek. Verksted AS, Tønsberg Harpunfabrik AS and Tønsberg og Oplands Bank. Bugge was also Portuguese Vice Consul in Tønsberg.

Krogh-Hansen joins the company

The N. Bugge Company was general manager for and co-owner of several companies. In 1910, Finn Bugge entered into a form of lifelong cooperation with Hans Krogh-Hansen, and together they established AS Kastor in 1911 (Akt– 1585). The company operated in whaling areas in West Africa. That same year Hans Krogh-Hansen was initiated as a partner of the N. Bugge Company and thus a joint general manager of the companies. In 1911, the N. Bugge Company acquired two-thirds of AS Tenvik Trankokeri (A–1587).

AS Hektor

In 1910 Finn Bugge started the whaling company AS Hektor (A–1582). The N. Bugge Company was general manager, while Finn was the whaling company's owner.

Shortly after its inception, AS Hektor was granted a whaling licence and the right to establish a land-based station in Whalers Bay on Deception Island in the Antarctic. Great Britain, which had claimed sovereignty over the South Shetland Islands, wanted to regulate whaling through the issuing of permits and whaling licences. Together with its licence and sole rights to establish a land-based station, AS Hektor was also granted a licence to carry out whaling operations using a floating factory and whaling vessels in British territorial waters.

In 1914, AS Hektor acquired AS Hvalen (A-1583), Sandefjord. This acquisition helped AS Hektor to obtain more favourable whaling licences in the South Shetland Islands.

AS Hektor continued to catch whales around the South Shetland Islands until 1930/31. As a result of the First World War, however, no expeditions were sent between the years 1915 and 1920. The floating factories were instead used to carry freight. Several ships were torpedoed or sunk during the war. In 1930, the year the final expedition took place, three floating factories and a total of 16 whaling vessels, two buoy boats and a tanker sailed south to catch whales. There was a tremendous amount of optimism. In the spring of 1931, however, the expedition returned home and the ships were immediately laid up as a result of a slump in the market for whale oil.

In 1930, Niels Ronald Bugge (b. 1905), son of Finn Bugge, became co-owner of the company together with Harald Krogh-Hansen. Harald Krogh-Hansen was the son of Hans Krogh-Hansen. At the same time they both became general managers of AS Hektor. Niels Ronald Bugge had studied social economics at Cambridge University after graduating from upper secondary school, and began his career in the company by taking part in an expedition to the Antarctic in 1929, the year before he became co-owner of his father's company.

Establishment of British Companies

Whaling licences in the South Shetland Islands were granted for a period of around 20 years, and the renegotiation of licences with the British authorities began at the end of the 1920s. Circumstances had changed, however, and the British became more restrictive as regards whaling licence, which called for a new strategy on the part of the N. Bugge Company, and cooperation was sought with British partners. Collaboration with Britain gave rise to unrest in Norwegian shipping circles, but for the N. Bugge Company it was necessary to adapt to the market. The result was the establishment of British companies and subsidiaries where they themselves were directors and/or general managers. Agreements were entered into concerning the sale of production and the establishment of companies for tax purposes.

In 1928, Hector Whaling Ltd. was founded in London. It was agreed that AS Hektor would sell its whale oil to Hector Whaling Ltd. for a period of 20 years in return for which Hector Whaling Ltd. would cover AS Hektor's operating expenses. The first year of operation in 1928/29 saw very good profits, and Hektor's shareholders received a 40 per cent dividend payment. The 1930/31 season was not a success, however. Hector Whaling Ltd. was unable to sell the oil produced, and the company was consequently unable to fulfil its obligations in respect of Hektor. The result of this was that Hector Whaling Ltd. was granted a moratorium, i.e. a form of debt deferment in respect of both AS Hektor and its own creditors (read more about this under the description of AS Hektor; A-1582).

The N. Bugge Company played a role in forming United Whalers Ltd., London in 1935. United Whalers Ltd. was a subsidiary of Hector Whaling Ltd., which in turn had a majority shareholding in AS Hektor and Hektoria Ltd., London (A-1584). In connection with the establishment of United Whalers, one managed, by means of a mortgage, to build the floating factory Terje Viken and nine whaling vessels. The floating factory Terje Viken, which was built at Deutsche Maskin & Schiffgebau, Bremen in 1936, was sunk by the Germans during the Second World War. United Whalers Ltd. and Hector Whaling Ltd., London merged in 1953, and all material was transferred at this point from Hector Whaling Ltd. to United Whalers Ltd. Niels Ronald Bugge was director of Hector Whaling Ltd. and United Whalers Ltd. in London.

In 1940, the N. Bugge Company was dissolved and operations were continued in a limited liability company under the name AS N. Bugge. With effect from the same date, the company IS Bugge & Krogh-Hansen was established. The company took over all whaling business that the N. Bugge Company had managed through the four owners – Finn Bugge, N. R. Bugge, Consul H. Krogh-Hansen and Harald Krogh-Hansen – under the name Bugge & Krogh-Hansen. In spite of its formal establishment in 1940, Bugge & Krogh-Hansen had already from 1936 shifted from acting as general managers to agents for other companies. The agreement between the parties was renegotiated in 1944, and again in 1946 when Consul H. Krogh-Hansen passed away.

At the beginning of the Second World War, AS N. Bugge only owned a few whaling vessels. These were used as freight carriers during the war, and as a consequence of the war the company lost several of these vessels.

From Whaling to Shipping

The agreement between AS Hektor and Hector Whaling Ltd. was terminated in 1946, and in the post-war years AS Hektor's primary focus was on shipping. AS N. Bugge owned, together with AS Hektor, Hektoria and Benguela.

In 1947, Niels Ronald Bugge also became co-owner of the company Bugge & Krogh-Hansen (A-1593), Tønsberg, which was involved in whaling and shipping (including the Balaena expedition), and a large part of the Bugge Shipping Company's operations after the Second World War took place within the company Bugge & Krogh-Hansen.

In 1947, Niels Ronald Bugge established his own shipping company N.R. Bugge Skipsaksjeselskap (A-1327), which was primarily involved in tanker operations.

Niels Ronald Bugge had many positions of office. Among other things, he was chairman of the International Association of Whaling Companies, a member of the board of Hvalfangstens Assuranceforening [the Whaling Companies' Insurance Association] and member of the board of representatives of AS Norske Alliance. From 1939 he was Swedish Vice Consul in Tønsberg.

After Finn Bugge's death in 1958, his son Niels Ronald became manager of the company.

Finn Bugge (1871 – 1958)

A Pioneer in the Supply Ship Service in the North Sea

As Norway withdrew from modern pelagic whaling at the end of the 1960s, the Bugge shipping company was already seeking new roads. Oil operations had created the need for a new form of cargo vessels, and from the 1970s onwards the company owned Bugge Supply Ships with its ten or so offshore vessels responsible for supplying drilling platforms. The first two supply vessels Sea Pearl and Sea Explorer were built in Houston, Texas. AS N. Bugge owned the Bugge Supply Ships Group. At this time Finn Axel Bugge, son of Niels Ronald Bugge and the grandson of Finn Bugge, was general manager of the company. In 1978, Finn Axel Bugge moved to Singapore, and the company AS N. Bugge was dissolved. A new company was established, however, AS N.R. Bugge, in which Finn Axel Bugge served on the board of directors from the outset. Director Sven Gjeruldsen was general manager.

AS N.R. Bugge was wound down in 2004 since the company no longer had revenues. The winding-down process was part of the Bugge Group's rationalisation process.

THE ARCHIVE:

The N. Bugge archive comprises 70 linear shelf metres and spans the period from 1827 to 2004. Only a few documents date from the time before the company was established in 1852, however, and these relate mostly to real estate documentation and work contracts. There is a lacuna in several of the series.

The Case Records and Correspondence series (D–E) are the most comprehensive sections, comprising a full 19 sub-series. Further, the archive contains some older vessel documentation contained under series F, most of which relates to individual vessels. A considerable amount of vessel documentation can also be found in the Insurance series (G) and Average/Shipwreck series (H).

Information concerning crews can be found under series P. Since the N. Bugge Company was responsible for hiring crews for several companies, this series also contains crew-related documents pertaining to these companies' ships. The Pab series comprises crew cards in connection with Bugge & Krogh-Hansen's role as agents for others. Crew information may also be found in series H.

The archive's accounts section consists of traditional accounting series, in which the main ledger series is most complete. The accounting vouchers are comprehensive and document both private and business matters and transactions.

The archive also consists of some sketches/drawings (T), both of houses, ships, machinery and land-based stations.

The archive contains relatively few photographs, although there is some photographic material that has yet to be registered. Some albums have been borrowed from Anne Bugge and Tønsberg Sjømannsforening [Tønsberg Association of Seamen], respectively, and have been digitised.

Since the Bugge Shipping Company's operations cover several companies, and because the company at times operated as an agent for other companies (crew hiring, outfitting etc.), it may in some cases be necessary to obtain information from the archives for these various companies. This primarily applies to the following creators of records:

- A-1582 - AS Hektor
- A-1583 - AS Hvalen
- A-1593 - IS Bugge & Krogh-Hansen
- A-1582 - Hektor Ltd.
- A-1589 - AS Viktor

For example, documentation after 1917 relating to operations in the company AS Hektor can be found in the N. Bugge archive (A-1326).

N. Bugge's archive consists of the following series:

A – Governing Bodies, 1930–2004

This series consists of minutes of board meetings and general meetings from 1940 to 2004. In addition, the series contains two books of meetings relating to agreements concerning AS Hektor and Hector Whaling Ltd.

B – Copy books, 1910–1916

The copy book series, consisting of copies of outgoing letters, only covers the years 1910 to 1916. Two of the copy books contain letters from Finn Bugge. Beyond the aforementioned period, copies of outgoing letters can be found in the case and correspondence series.

D – Main Correspondence, 1860–1966

This series is comprehensive and consists of 13 sub-series. With the exception of series Dc, which is arranged by archive key, all correspondence is arranged in alphabetical order within given periods.

Daa – Letters and Telegrams, 1860–1908

Correspondence before around 1870 is fragmentary. The series contains correspondence with business contacts as well as private letters. A significant part of these consist of letters between the family and Finn Bugge, while he was a student in Hannover and Gothenburg, respectively. Offers from freight agents for the carrying of goods, customer requests etc. This series also includes some vouchers.

Dab – Letters and Telegrams, 1905–1916

This series is arranged chronologically, and to some extent arranged in alphabetical order by business contact. For each year there are separate files containing letters addressed to Consul Finn Bugge, and also letters of a more private character. There is no clear division in the correspondence between the N. Bugge Company, Finn Bugge and matters relating to AS Hektor and AS Hvalen. The correspondence concerns, among other things, the purchase and sale of vessels, purchases of coal and equipment as well as various settlements and money transactions. Further, this series includes offers for the purchase and sale of property and shares in various companies, questions concerning employment and the hiring of crews etc.

Db – Correspondence – alphabetical, 1917–1950

This series is comprehensive with a total of seven sub-series (Dba–Dc). Each sub-series represent a separate business function, either through the joint operation of several companies, or as an agent or general manager. Within each sub-series correspondence is arranged chronologically and then alphabetically by name.

E – Case Archive, 1911–1945

This series is divided into four sub-series. Series Ea contains matters concerning the shipping company and general manager operations. Series Eb–Ed include correspondence with whaling organisations and associations; Norges Hvalfangerforening [The Norwegian Whalers' Association], Hvalfangstens Assuranceforening [The Whaling Insurance Association] and Salgskontoret for hvalolje 1933–1934 [The Sales Office for Whale Oil 1933–1934].

F – Vessel Documentation, 1885–1939

This series consists of three sub-series. The first sub-series Fa contains documentation relating to individual vessels. These are ships in which N. Bugge was co-owner, and which were used for freight or in connection with whaling. Some documentation concerning individual vessels may be found in series Q. In addition, the N. Bugge Company owned a number of ships that were also organised as separate companies. See under series P for further information about these companies. Series Fb contains offers from ship's brokers, while series Fc deals with various forms of vessel documentation, primarily from the 1920s and 1930s.

G – Insurance, 1905–1934

Insurance of vessels, cargoes and equipment etc. The series is arranged by season and alphabetically by ship. In cases where the policy files span several years, the file will be located under the final season. Policy files contain not only insurance policies but also correspondence documenting the following: name of insurer, cover expiry date, assessment of damages. The files contain different categories of insurance: e.g. insurance of whale oil, whalebone, machinery parts, clothing and effects, whaling equipment etc.

H – Average/Shipwreck, 1915–1936

This series, which is arranged by category of ship and then by the vessel's name, contains documents relating to insurance settlements and calculations of damages. In addition, the series contains excerpts of journals and crew information as well as an overview of crew member signings off etc.

J – Various Items concerning Production, 1934

This series deals with methods for preserving and utilizing whale meat.

K – Shares, 1918–1960

Share certificates, dividend coupons and a list of Finn and Mary Jane Bugge's shares etc.

P – Personnel Management, 1842–1990

This series contains crew cards for the period 1910 until around 1990. This includes employment and hiring contracts, personal papers concerning the Bugge family, application, certificates and diplomas etc. Information about crews may also be found in the AS Hektor archive (A–1582) and in the IS Bugge & Krogh-Hansen archive (A–1593).

Crew lists are also available in connection with the individual ships: see the archives for Sultan rederi (A-1776) Superior AS (A-1591), Aurora, partsrederi (A-1580) and Sverre AS (A-1774). Crew information also exists under series H and series Rf (accounting vouchers).

Q – Property Management, Fixtures and Fittings, 1827–1957

Contracts concerning purchases, sales and development of properties, purchases and sales of ships, specification of costs, some personal contracts and agreements etc.

R – Accounts, 1852–1986

The accounts series is arranged in sub-series divided into ledgers, creditors and debtors, coordinated bookkeeping, real property registration and accounting vouchers. In addition, there is an Re series containing individual records relating to vessels, the Kaldnes farm, coal purchases, a raw balance ledger, a status book and two auditing ledgers. The accounts series is not complete.

T – Drawings and Maps, 1897–1956

This series primarily contains drawings of ships, equipment and areas (plan drawings).

U – Photographs and Films, 1890–1950

This archive contains a relatively small number of photographs. The photographic evidence in existence documents the company's management, building processes and launches, ships and land-based stations. There are also photographs taken in connection with the Wilkin-Hearst expedition at the end of the 1920s. The aim of this expedition was to map the Antarctic peninsula, and the expedition was granted permission by N. Bugge to use Deception Island as a base and landing place. Some of the photographs have yet to be registered. The films have not yet been arranged and registered.

Z – Reference Material, 1852–1992

Ea -	CORRESPONDENCE – WHALING AND SHIPPING COMPANY RELATED	1911 – 1945
	The series is organized according to year and alphabetically according to business associate. Cases that affect several of the companies, which N. Bugge managed or operated, are collected here. A large and comprehensive series, which covers the years 1917 to 1945. One exception is archival unit Ea/0001, which covers the years from 1911 to 1928. Here we find, among other things, correspondence with the captain onboard the floating factories, and also correspondence with English authorities in the Falkland Islands and in London with regards to whaling rights. Central documentation can be found in the correspondence with the captains on board the ships. The ship’s name is registered either with the prefix SS and DS (steam ship) or with “fl.k” (flytende kokeri – floating factory). Up to unit Ea/0075 the series is organized on a file level, then on a unit level.

L0003	Photo album connected to among other things the Wilkins-Hearst expedition to Antarctica in 1928-29 Digitised in Arkivportalen	(ca.)

L0004	The photo album belonged to Finn Bugge Digitised in Arkivportalen	1890 - 1900
	The photographs hail partially from Finn Bugge's student years in Germany at the end of the 1890s, in addition there are three motifs most likely related to whaling, probably from the station on Iceland (AS Viktor). Moreover there are some photos from Norway. Photographer unknown.
